About Rev. Michael J. Mangham

Rev. Michael J. Mangham (1910–1985) was a pastor and civic leader who became the first mayor of the Village of Lincoln Heights, Ohio, upon its incorporation in 1946. A respected clergyman at First Baptist Church, he guided the newly formed village through its formative years, advocating for community development, civil rights, and social cohesion.

Under his leadership, Lincoln Heights established essential municipal services, including a local police force and volunteer fire department, and invested in educational and recreational programs for residents. Rev. Mangham's vision and dedication laid a strong foundation for the village's growth and unity.
